Power plant ruling to be sought soon

A request for a Missouri Supreme Court ruling on certain aspects of Sikeston's proposed $250 million power plant is expected to be filed soon with the attorney general's office by lawyers for the Sikeston Board of Municipal Utilities.

That was the word given Thursday morning at the Holiday Inn during a meeting of representatives from nine of the 11 cities planning to purchase power from the plant and other technical people invovled with the project.

The Supreme Court will be asked to rule on several legal questions bothering the bonding companies, according to E. R. "Dick" Inman, director of the board of municipal utilities.

Inman declined to go into detail on what reservations the bonding firms had, but said one of the questions was whether or not the contracts to purchase power represented a legal debt on the cities involved.

He said a preliminary brief had already been filed with the attorney general's office and the city would request that the attorney general represent the city in the case in early December.

Inman added that the questions do not affect the city's bonding program and the case will not push back the construction timetable.

The meeting was called to allow the technical people involved in the project to provide information on the project to the cities planning on purchasing power from Sikeston.

Thursday afternoon many of those attending the meeting toured Sikeston's present power plant and the site for the proposed new plant.

The new 235 megawatt steam plant will be built along compress road west of the present steam plant.

Sikeston plans to sell excess power during the first years of operation to 11 other communities in the state. The sale of the excess power will help offset the cost of the plant.

By the year 2,000, Sikeston will be using the entire output of the plant.

The subject is power

Paul Phillips of Raytown, consulting engineer with Phelps and Hogan Engineers discusses aspects of Sikeston's proposed 235- megawatt power plant with representatives of cities planning to purchase some of Sikeston's excess power. Also at the meeting were technical people working on the project, such as lawyers, financial and engineering consultants.

Local burn victims win $300,000 judgment

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clark and their 19-year-old daughter, Deborah, won a $300,000 personal injury suit in federal district court here Thursday.

The suit, against Associated Natural Gas Company of Sikeston, Burns-a-matic, Inc., of New York, and National Safety Association of Memphis, held that heat detectors manufactured by Burns-a-matic and distributed by National Safety Association, did not give a warning when a temperature of 136 degrees was reached, and that a fracture in a gas service line behind the Clark home allowed gas to seep into the home and contribute to the explosion that injured the Clark family.

The incident occurred Aug. 29, 1974, at the Clark home, then located at 1308 W. Murray Lane, when a fire started in the home, possibly by an electrical storm. Deborah Clark was awakened at 1 a.m. by her dog, and she found her room in flames, according to the Clarks' attorney, Weber Gilmore. She ran to her parent's room, which was also in flames, Gilmore said, and had just awakened them when the house exploded. At the time of the incident, the Sikeston Fire Department listed the cause of the explosion as a back draft.

In a trial that took two and one half days, the jury found Associated Natural Gas liable for the leaking gas line, and they were ordered to pay $200,000, Gilmore said, while Burns-a-matic and National Safety Association split payment of the remaining $100,000 because their heat detectors failed to warn the sleeping family.

The Clarks has asked for a judgment of $1.5 million in the incident that left Harold Clark with burns over 65 per cent of his body, Joleen Clark with burns over 50 per cent of her body, and Deborah Clark with burns over 60 per cent of her body.

At Missouri Delta Hospital

Warehouse construction begins

Construction has begun on a warehouse at Missouri Delta Community Hospital, where a two-year $450,000 renovation and building program is halfway completed.

Harold Jones, hospital administrator, said Thursday that the renovation program was undertaken because several departments needed extra space. Those departments include the clinical laboratory, the dietary department, medical records and the medical librarv.

To keep from beginning a major building program, the hospital board of directors approved construction of a central warehouse to the east of the hospital building. The warehouse storage will allow extra space in the hospital to be used for other purposes.

The hospital space is being redistributed to the departments in need.

The renovation program began about one year ago with the remodeling of the building formerly used by the Sikeston board of Education.

The new warehouse will be a concrete block and brick veneer building.

Other work to be done at the hospital includes enlarging the parking lot, building a designated patient pickup area, and building a canopy to protect the ambulances from the weather.

Jones said he thinks the work will be completed by the end of next summer.

Porn case scheculed for Dec. 7

DEXTER — Clyde Costin, manager of Family Drive-In, charged with showing pornographic movies in violation of a city ordinance, will appear in City Court Dec. 7, City Attorney Paul McGhee said today.

Time of the trial has not been set, but will be sometime in the afternoon, McGhee said.

The date was agreed upon by McGhee and an attorney for Kerasotes Theatres and Costin after Police Judge Herb Aarant continued the case.

Costin was originally to have appeared Thursday.

The charge rises from an incident Saturday in which police decided the movie, "Pleasure is My Business", violated a city ordinance and closed it down.

Constitutionality of the ordinance was questioned when it was approved in May at the urging of church groups, but McGhee said today he would rather not speculate on the case.

If convicted, Costin faces a maximum fine of $500 or a 90-day jail sentence, or both.

If convicted, the case could be appealed to Stoddard County Circuit Court at Bloomfield.

The movie screen faces Highway 114 in a busy stretch of the highway. The drive-in is next door to a restaurant and is near a shopping center and several other restaurants.

The movie in question featured nudity and sexual activity. Police said several complaints had been received before closing the movie, but they did not find out about them until after the action.

BLOOMFIELD — Preliminary hearing for Loren Dale Sielbert, 17, of Dexter, charged with negligent manslaughter, was held Thursday in Stoddard County Magistrate Court, but Judge Jimmie Trammell continued the case until Nov. 26 to give defense attorneys time to present court cases relavent to this one.

Charges against Sielert stem from an accident which occurred at 12:05 a.m. July 28, in which a Dexter woman and her 3-year-old daughter were killed.

The highway patrol reported then that the accident occurred when a southbound pickup truck driven by Sielert crossed the center line on Route AD, two miles north of Dexter, and struck a northbound station-wagon driven by Marbadene Gromer, 25, of Dexter.

The Gromer woman and her daughter, Billie Jo Gromer, 3, were killed.

Only three witnesses were called by Prosecuting Attorney Philip Ayers, including Stoddard County Coroner Ray Rainey, Highway Patrol Trooper Randy Bess, who conducted the initial investigation, and Lillie Foster, who was a passenger in the Gromer car at the time of the accident.

Most of the time was taken up questioning the state trooper about the evidence he found at the scene, including skid marks and gouge marks in the roadway.

Bess said that on the night of the accident, after his investigation, he issued a summons to Sielert for careless and imprudent driving.

The trooper testified that, based on the evidence, Sielert was going about 75 miles per hour on the rural blacktop road and the Gromer vehicle was going about 50 miles per hour.

Sielert told the trooper that he was going within the speed limit and that the Gromer vehicle was near the center of the road and that he couldn't avoid it.

Both vehicles were extensively damaged. Bess said he determined that the truck went over the top of the Gromer car.

Rainey testified that the wrecker at the scene had to stretch out the Gromer car to remove the body of Mrs. Gromer. Bess broke out a window to remove the child from the car.

There are different degrees of manslaughter, with the one against Sielert being a lesser degree.

Murder trial Monday

BENTON — John Abbott of Bernie is scheduled to go on trial Monday in the Scott County Circuit Court on a change of venue from Dunklin County.

Abbott is charged with first degree murder in connection with the death of a Clarkton liquor store owner, John Frank Holder Feb. 24 outside Holder's rural home and liquor store.

Two other men charged with the same crime have already appeared in court in Cape Girardeau County.

Loal Junior Joiner, was convicted on Sept. 8 of first- degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. Bobby Ray Joiner, Loal Joiner's cousin, was found guilty of first- degree murder earlier this month and is being held in the Scott County jail at Benton awaiting sentencing.

The three were arrested in Florida about a week after the slaying.

On Sept. 12, Abbott, Loal Joiner, and two other inmates at the Scott County jail, overpowered the dispatcher after they removed a metal panel from around an air conditioning unit and gained eccess to the plumbing area and called to the dispatcher that the plumbing was leaking.

The dispatcher put a trustee into the plumbing area, then went and locked the front door. Upon returning to help the trustee the dispatcher was jumped by one of the escapees and the keys to the cells were taken.

After obtaining the keys, the dispatcher and trustee were locked in the plumbing area and the escapee's unlocked all of the other cell doors.

However only Abbott, Joiner, Jeff Avery and Charles Heard escaped.

Heard and Avery were captured around 8 p.m. Sept. 13 on route E between Benton and Commerce. Shortly after Heard and Avery had been captured a call was received at the Scott County Sheriff's office from a farmer on the Benton-Oran road who said two men had knocked at his door moments before.

Ten cars were dispatched to the area and Joiner and Abbott were forced from their hiding place and offered no resistance.

Thieves loot pickup

Several items with a total value of $1,447 were taken from a pickup truck on Monday, according to a report made available today by the Department of Public Safety.

The pickup was parked at the Carl Burnett home, 301 Branum St. when the theft occurred.

1,774 signatures verified

BENTON — Scott County Clerk Bob Kielhofner reported to the Scott County Court Thursday that petitions filed with the court on Oct. 21, requesting that a Scott County Ambulance District proposition be presented to the voters of the county, officially contained 1,774 valid signatures.

Kielhofner said the verified signatures were contained in 62 separate petitions with a total of 2,114 signatures.

Some 340 were stricken from the petitions because they were not registered voters of the county, duplications or were illegible.

Verification of the petitions was completed on Nov. 17, Kielhofner said, and the total of 1,774 signatures was sufficient to place the proposition before the Scott County voters, since the law only requires 1,101 valid signatures.

The Court said action would be taken before the deadline for the April 1977 city elections.

A PEEK AT THE NEW CONGRESS

It's too early, of course, to predict with accuracy what the philosophical makeup of the newly elected Congress will be. There were many turnovers among the 435 members of the House, and 17 of the 100 Senate seats will be held by newcomers when the 95th Congress convenes in January.

What is apparent, however, is that the political balance of Congress remains about the same. That is, Democrats enjoy a margin of 62 to 38 in the Senate, and a cool two-to-one majority in the House. In the statehouses, meantime, Democrats likewise have overwhelming strength of about three governors for every one GOP governor.

Many observers regard the 94th Congress which ended last month as one of the sorriest on record. Filled with a huge freshman class of Democrats elected in 1974 in the wake of Watergate, the 94th will be remembered for its profligate spending — including a pay hike for itself cynically tied henceforth to the cost of living — and repeated scandals involving violations of both personal and public trust. It was the Congress that fiddled while the nation's most serious problems, including energy, continued to burn out of control.

The stalemate that persisted, with a spendthrift Democratic Congress on one hand and a determined Republican President on the other, was by no means ideal government. It was better, however, than the national bankruptcy that some irresponsible members of the 94th seemed determined to bring upon the country.

We now shudder a bit to contemplate the fact that a similarly balanced Congress will be faced by fellow Democrat Jimmy Carter in the White House. Whether he will have the desire or courage to check the excesses of Capitol Hill remains to be seen.

On a positive note, Americans concerned about the nation's solvency and its defense posture couldn't help be pleased by the defeat at the polls of some very liberal members — such as New York's Bella Abzug and Hawaii's Patsy Mink, who lost in the primary, and Democratic Senators John Tunney, Vance Hartke and Frank Moss who lost in the general election.

We can only hope that the men and women of Capitol Hill, regardless of their political affiliation, will put such differences aside and act responsibly over the next two years for the best long-range interests of the nation as a whole.

P.S. TO THE NEWS

TV FAMILY HOUR DECISION
By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY
Copley News Service

A federal judge in Los Angeles has just provided new grist for the mills of those who think that the federal courts are the principal cause for the flood of pornography that has inundated newsstands, movies and television during the last several years.

This judge ruled that the television "Family Hour" is an unconstitutional violation of the 1st Amendment guarantee of free speech.

The Family Hour is a voluntary agreement by the three television networks to abstain from showing objectionable programs of violence and illicit sex from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. because so many children watch during those hours.

The effect of this decision is to accord a higher constitutional value to the rights of the pornography profiteers who want to make killing, robbing, maiming and sleazy sex a spectator sport, than to the rights of children to enjoy decent family entertainment, or to the rights of parents to train their children in obedience to the laws of God and country.

This is an indefensible decision.

Television scriptwriters have no more "right" to have their scripts aired on television between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m., or at any other time, than any author has a right to have his books bought in the bookstores. The customer determines what is worthy of being bought, not the author or performer.

Neither the networks, nor the advertisers, nor the viewing public wants violence and illicit sex aired in family viewing times; yet this federal judge has enshrined the right of the scriptwriters to inflict their pornographic programming and violence-inciting subject matter on the entire country.

The negative effect of violence on children can no longer be disputed.

Dr. Michael B. Rothenberg, a child psychologist writing in the American Medical Association Journal, is one of the many experts who have concluded that a concentrated viewing of violence produces increased aggressive behavior in the young and a desensitization to violence.

Rothenberg pointed out that the average American child, by the time he finishes shcool, "will have witnessed 18,000 murders and countless highly detailed incidents of robbery, arson, bombing, forgery, smuggling, beating and torture averaging approximately one per minute in the standard television cartoon for children under the age of 10." He said that "there is an average of six times more violence during one hour of children's television than there is in one hour of adult television."

Rothenberg said that the time is long past due for an organized cry of protest from parents and also from the medical profession to what he called "a national scandal," because " to be silent is to acquiesce, and it is clear that if we truly care about our children, we canot be silent."

Prof. Anne R. Somers, writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, was correct when she said that television is a molder not a mirror of social values, and that "for a considerable proportion of American children and youth, violence has become a major health problem." She identified a major cause as "television's massive daily diet of symbolic crime and violence in 'entertainment' programs."

The television networks should be applauded for instituting the Family Hour and for appealing the recent federal court decision against it.

If the networks do not engage in responsible self-regulation, the American public may come to the same conclusion reached by Malcolm Muggeridge: "The corruption of our children is absolutely appalling. WHO OWNS THE KOH-I-NOOR0
William J. O'Neill
In National Geographic News

Pakistan's call on Britain to give back the Koh-i-noor diamond could set an awkward precedent. Challenging the legitimacy of the stone's present ownership could lead everyone involved into the thorny maze of an international legal brier patch. The Koh-i-noor, for example, now reposes with the rest of Britain's crown jewels in the Tower of London as the frontispiece of the Queen Consort's crown.

The 109- carat jewel, considered by experts to be the world's most perfect diamond, was cut from a 186- carat stone given to Queen Victoria by the East India Tea Co. after Britain annexed the Punjab in 1848. Pakistan's Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto recently wrote to British Prime Minister James Callaghan to ask for the gem's return. Bhutto said the gesture "would be a convincing demonstration of the spirit that moved Britain voluntarily to shed its imperial encumbrances...."

But even as Britain was considering the request, India declared the Koh-i-noor is "completely of Indian origin and only India can be its legitimate claimant."

The diamond is believed to have belonged to the Raja of Malwa as early as 1304. The stone later fell into the hands of Babur, who in 1526 founded the Mogul dynasty, and was the leading jewel of the Mogul emperors for the next two centuries. When Nadir Shah of Persia invaded India in 1739, he sacked the Mogul palace in Delhi and reputedly spent 58 days hunting for the fabled diamond.

Finally, a harem woman told the conquereror the Mogul emperor had hidden the stone in his turban. Nadir Shah promptly invited the deposed ruler to a feast, at which he proposed they exchange turbans as a sign of friendship. Confronted with a choice of his diamond or his head, the hapless emperor complied. When the Shah unrolled the turban and beheld the great diamond, he exclaimed "Koh-i-noor," meaning "Mountain of Light," and the name has remained.

KNOWING WHEN TO STOP

By The Honorable William E. Simon.

(With government growth becoming a major public concern, William E. Simon, Secretary of the Treasury, was asked for his views on the biggest problem in the relationship between government and the private sector—and what can be done about it. Here is his reply.)

The biggest single problem in the interrelationship between government and the private sector is that government, for too many years, simply has not known when to stop.

For most of our history, we have followed the founding fathers' vision of limited government. But for the past 40 years of so the contrary belief that government must continually intervene to stabilize the economy has dominated our policy- making, affecting not only the economy but tipping the balance of power in the direction of government and away from the people.

In the early 1930s, government at all levels accounted for about 12 cents of every dollar spent. Today, government accounts for more than 35 cents, and our projections indicate this will reach 60 cents of every dollar by 2000 unless the trend is curbed.

The fact is, the federal government has gone on a spending binge at a rate faster than the economy can expand. This has built up a momentum of outlays that has pushed the budget to four times its size of the early 1960s, created deficits that caused severe strains on financial markets—soaking up funds that might have gone for job creation and other purposes— added greatly to inflationary pressures and helped generate a boom-and-bust climate that brought on the 1974-75 recession, our worst in a generation.

As if these excesses weren't enough, the government simultaneously has expanded its web of coontrols and regulations over private enterprise. Some of these controls are in the public interest, but many more are unfair, anticompetitive, lead to higher prices and stifle initiative and innovation at the very source of five out of every six jobs in the country— our private sector.

So I submit that the central task, the overriding challenge before this great nation, is to stem this tide of bloated government and, at the same time, to strengthen the free enterprise sector of our economcy before it is too late.

I know that it's fashionable these days for candidates of every political coloration to take a stand against "big government." But many of these same candidates are also asking the voters to support policies that will lead to more spending, more controls, more regulating. Let me assure you that regardless of the anti-Washington rhetoric emanating from the banks of the Potomac, the spend-spend, elect-elect syndrome is alive and well.

To break this cycle and return the U.S. economy to full vigor, we must carry out a program that achieves these goals:

Reduction of runaway government spending which—as more and more citizens have come to realize—is our greatest single domestic problem.

Skillful management of economic affairs by creating an environment conducive to sustained, non-inflationary growth and more reliance on the free market.

Prosperity through encouragement of the private sector—the right road to better jobs, higher wages, greater output per worker and enlargement of the economic pie so that all citizens may enjoy a larger slice.

Reduction of the level of taxation for individuals and businesses to avoid the stultification that afflicts societies when the state consumes a bigger and bigger portion of the national product.

When I warn against governmental power, it is not because I am blindly anti-government. I'm not. I want government to perform well those tasks which government alone can perform well those tasks which government alone can perform or those it can properly undertake in partnership with the private sector.

But the sad truth is that the federal government has gotten out of hand. It is trying to do more than the nation 's resources will allow, to do things it cannot do well, and to do others it should not be doing at all—and to do all this simultaneously. Government has lost its way and become the problem, not the solution, and in so doing it has forfeited the right to the full trust and confidence of the American people.

We need to readjust the balance between citizen and government, a balance that favors greater reliance on the individual and on that level of government closest to the individual. We need a government that is not afraid to examine itself, not afraid to say "we should be doing this" or, more important, "we should not be doing that." We need a government that can nourish the natural forces of a free economy, get off the backs of our innovators and job producers, and reawaken the energies of our people by strengthening, rather than weakening, their freedoms.

Freedom, in the final analysis, is what this country is all about. To preserve our freedoms we must recognize that they are bound up together, that if our economic freedom goes, so do our individual and political freedoms.

UN Money Machine:
U.S. hands many Marxist nations millions in cash as gifts

UNITED NATIONS — This futuristic, glass-enclosed Fourth World is equipped with a locked-in Money Machine -- meaning the United States.

Our government jackpots it out annually to friend and Marxist-Leninist foe alike by the scores of millions of dollars.

This, in turn, enables ambassadors from nations which are specks on vast continents or dots in endless oceans to live on suburban estates, in $1,200-a-month apartments or in almost priceless town houses; to drive in custom-built cars and eat $25-a-lobster meals in nearby restaurants.

Our multi-million-dollar grants and "loans" enable the Marxist-Leninist governments back home to operate propaganda machines which denounce America, destroy capitalism, maintain political parties which are the state and run trigger-happy people's militias to make certain that any dissenter has a one-way pass to re-education centers conveniently enclosed by barbed wire.

Just the other week, for example, a casualty of the 1972 presidential election, Sen. George McGovern, now a U.S. delegate to the United Nations General Assembly, reported to this Fourth World's Committees that the U.S. has decided to contribute $100 million to the UN Development Program for fiscal year 1977. Courtesy of the U.S. Congress.

Further, to make certain that at least one fledgling, professionally brutal anti-U.S. Marxist-Leninist state got a bit more than it would out of the UNDP, McGovern announced we had given an additional $10 million to Mozambique. This is called a "Grant-Agreement" with that government. Which I interpret to mean Mozambique agrees to take our capitalist cash.

In addition, there were millions more donated in "significant food assistance." The theory is that the U.S. is thus helping Mozambique because that "brave new world" (see Aldous Huxley) is fighting white Rhodesia. And therefore is hurting itself. All of which soon enough will be proven untrue -- I mean the bit about hurting itself.

Authoritative records disclose that Mozambique actually is trading heavily with the Republic of South Africa, now Rhodesia's patron state. Actually there are 180,000 youthful Mozambiquians, of whom 83,000 are gold miners, working in South Africa. They are the guest workers, as are the Turks in West Germany.

The difference is that the South African mining companies send 60 per cent of the Mozambiquian workers' wages directly to the Mozambique government. In gold bullion. When the gold-diggers return home, however, they are repaid the 60 per cent in Mozambique's domestic confetti money. Thus do the young diggers from Mozambique send millions of dollars of their wages back home each year.

At the same time, despite Iowa Sen. Richard Clark's big-brother sentiment towards Mozambique, its Marxist dictator Samora Machel has slashed the U.S. and world capitalism in speech after speech. I have several inches of documents to prove this. These are easily obtainable and one wonders why Sen. Clark, head of the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on African Affairs, appears to ignore them.

Thus, the special grants of millions of American dollars are based on what seem to me to be hypocritical socio-philosophical standards. The real motive for such favoritism can only be surmised.

The reliable record to which I've referred state: "Mozambique, despite its militantly Marxist and anti-apartheid positions, has growing economic relations with South Africa ... The Pretoria (South African capital) regime is Mozambique's second biggest customer. Last year South Africa provided approximately $120 million of Mozambique's total foreign exchange earnings of some $300 million, consisting of $50 million from harbor and railway duties; $10 million from South African imports of Mozambique's goods; $10 million from South African tourists and $50 million from Mozambique's miners working in South Africa."

And after Mozambique was yielded its independence by Portugal in June 1975, the new Marxist state "signed a 10-year contract for Mozambique to supply energy to South Africa."

This will come from a dam which will dispatch 90 per cent of its energy production to South Africa, which will pay its bills in South Africa's own hard currency. Thus, it will provide Mozambique with additional vital foreign exchange.

There are other Maputo (Mozambique's capital)-Pretoria agreements. On modernizing of the railroad link between both nations. Developing Maputo's ports, etc., etc. During the 1975-76 period -- both before and after Mozambique's independence -- South Africa will have spent $165 million on the Marxist nation's ports and railways.

Why then is the U.S. giving Mozambique $10 million as a grant and additional fmoney for food? Sen. McGovern and his congressional bloc have talked endlessly about poverty in the U.S. and "the hungry." That $10 million would go a long way, if properly spent, among the rural poor and inner-city disadvantaged right here in America.

Why are we paying out huge fistfuls of big bank notes to those whose essential philosophical and political concepts not only bite the hands which feed them but which would destroy our way of life?

Why are we subsidizing Marxist Mozambique's productivity failure? Isn't this a subsidy to terror, to those who have thrust tens of thousands into concentration camps?

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Organized Crime War Falters

by Jack Anderson and Les Whitten

WASHINGTON -- A confidential study by the General Accounting Office (GAO) charges tersely that "the war on organized crime is faltering." The rackets continue to flourish across America, according to the study, despite federal attempts to crack down on the mob.

The study lays most of the blame on the federal strike forces, which spearhead the national effort to disrupt organized crime. The strike forces, states the study, "are not getting the job done."

At the same time, the strike forces have come under intensive fire inside the Justice Dept. Critics have accused them of subverting the judicial processes and abusing their powers. In their zeal, some task forces have hounded and harassed suspects who couldn't be convicted.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard Thornburgh, the conscientious chief of the Justice Dept.'s criminal division, has had misgivings about the strike forces. He recently shut down the strike forces in St. Louis and New Orleans. He also put the New Jersey strike force under U.S. Attorney Jonathan Goldstein's jurisdiction.

Finally, Thornburgh removed the respected William Lynch as head of the organized crime section, which oversees the strike forces. Lynch was compelled to trade places with Kurt Muellenberg, who had been running the narcotics section.

These developments have sent shock waves reverberating through the organized crime section. Inside sources have told us that morale on the strike forces is at an all-time low. There is concern that more strike forces may be disbanded.

Muellenberg has paid quiet calls on several strike forces to allay the apprehension. He told us he would never have taken the job if he had thought Thornburgh was trying to kill the strike forces.

Yet the malaise remains. We interviewed several strike force investigators. Most complained about a lack of communication between Washington and the field. Others suspected the motives of those who are trying to curb the strike forces.

Some strike force prosecutors are thinking about leaving the Justice Dept. to go into private practice. Others have simply adopted a "wait and see" attitude.

At the last meeting between Thornburgh and the strike force chiefs, we have learned, Thornburgh was not responsive to their complaints. The confidential GAO study also claims the fight against organized crime lacks organization and direction.

In a lengthy discussion with our associate Marc Smolonsky, Thornburgh conceded that organized crime is proliferating and that federal opposition should be better organized. But he challenged the GAO's auditing methods as a reliable measure of the Justice Dept.'s effectiveness in combating the mob.

He also blamed the American people for the growth of organized crime. It will "continue to flourish," he warned, "until the American citizenry chooses to withdraw its patronage from these multimillion-dollar sources of income, influence and power."

As evidence that the Justice Dept. is not soft on organized crime, he pointed out that six of the most powerful Mafia bosses from Brooklyn, Los Angeles, Montreal, New York City and St. Louis are now behind federal bars.

Thornburgh agreed, nevertheless, that the strike forces aren't focusing on the important organized crime cases as they should.

"Even where prosecutions ultimately result in convictions," he said, "the cost is often high in terms of the attitude of judges and members of the bar."

He had received complaints from judges and U.S. attorneys alike, he said, "about inept performances by strike force attorneys."

The strike forces "have come to be characterized by young, inexperienced and untrained attorneys," he said. They pursue "too many routine cases, often against organized crime underlings, relatives and associates."

One strike force chief grumped, meanwhile, that the situation "couldn't get worse."

WATCH ON WASTE: The Defense Dept. could save hundreds of thousands of dollars simply by consolidating its data processing systems in the Far East. This is the conclusion of the General Accounting Office, which has just submitted its unpublished findings to the Pentagon.

Consolidating the computer facilities in Hawaii alone, states the report, would save an estimated $110,600.

The Navy operates two separate data systems for security reasons. One handles classified data from Top Secret on down; the other handles data more sensitive than Top Secret. Apparently, all it would take to combine the two would be to issue a few more security clearances.

SEX DISCRIMINATION: Officials tried to suppress a scientific study of sex discrimination at the Federal Aviation Administration. We have obtained a copy of the study, which is based upon a statistical analysis. Using computers, an investigator compared the pay and promotion of men and women with similar backgrounds. The conclusion was that "whopping discrimination" is still going on.

The report never got out of the FAA's personnel office. An official, denying it was suppressed, explained that it couldn't be released "until my supervisory people had a chance to see it. It may have been a matter of miscommunication."

A PEEK AT THE NEW CONGRESS

It's too early, of course, to predict with accuracy what the philosophical makeup of the newly elected Congress will be. There were many turnovers among the 435 members of the House, and 17 of the 100 Senate seats will be held by newcomers when the 95th Congress convenes in January.

What is apparent, however, is that the political balance of Congress remains about the same. That is, Democrats enjoy a margin of 62 to 38 in the Senate, and a cool two-to-one majority in the House. In the statehouses, meantime, Democrats likewise have overwhelming strength of about three governors for every one GOP governor.

Many observers regard the 94th Congress which ended last month as one of the sorriest on record. Filled with a huge freshman class of Democrats elected in 1974 in the wake of Watergate, the 94th will be remembered for its profligate spending — including a pay hike for itself cynically tied henceforth to the cost of living — and repeated scandals involving violations of both personal and public trust. It was the Congress that fiddled while the nation's most serious problems, including energy, continued to burn out of control.

The stalemate that persisted, with a spendthrift Democratic Congress on one hand and a determined Republican President on the other, was by no means ideal government. It was better, however, than the national bankruptcy that some irresponsible members of the 94th seemed determined to bring upon the country.

We now shudder a bit to contemplate the fact that a similarly balanced Congress will be faced by fellow Democrat Jimmy Carter in the White House. Whether he will have the desire or courage to check the excesses of Capitol Hill remains to be seen.

On a positive note, Americans concerned about the nation's solvency and its defense posture couldn't help be pleased by the defeat at the polls of some very liberal members — such as New York's Bella Abzug and Hawaii's Patsy Mink, who lost in the primary, and Democratic Senators John Tunney, Vance Hartke and Frank Moss who lost in the general election.

We can only hope that the men and women of Capitol Hill, regardless of their political affiliation, will put such differences aside and act responsibly over the next two years for the best long-range interests of the nation as a whole.

P.S. TO THE NEWS

TV FAMILY HOUR DECISION
By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY
Copley News Service

A federal judge in Los Angeles has just provided new grist for the mills of those who think that the federal courts are the principal cause for the flood of pornography that has inundated newsstands, movies and television during the last several years.

This judge ruled that the television "Family Hour" is an unconstitutional violation of the 1st Amendment guarantee of free speech.

The Family Hour is a voluntary agreement by the three television networks to abstain from showing objectionable programs of violence and illicit sex from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. because so many children watch during those hours.

The effect of this decision is to accord a higher constitutional value to the rights of the pornography profiteers who want to make killing, robbing, maiming and sleazy sex a spectator sport, than to the rights of children to enjoy decent family entertainment, or to the rights of parents to train their children in obedience to the laws of God and country.

This is an indefensible decision.

Television scriptwriters have no more "right" to have their scripts aired on television between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m., or at any other time, than any author has a right to have his books bought in the bookstores. The customer determines what is worthy of being bought, not the author or performer.

Neither the networks, nor the advertisers, nor the viewing public wants violence and illicit sex aired in family viewing times; yet this federal judge has enshrined the right of the scriptwriters to inflict their pornographic programming and violence-inciting subject matter on the entire country.

The negative effect of violence on children can no longer be disputed.

Dr. Michael B. Rothenberg, a child psychologist writing in the American Medical Association Journal, is one of the many experts who have concluded that a concentrated viewing of violence produces increased aggressive behavior in the young and a desensitization to violence.

Rothenberg pointed out that the average American child, by the time he finishes shcool, "will have witnessed 18,000 murders and countless highly detailed incidents of robbery, arson, bombing, forgery, smuggling, beating and torture averaging approximately one per minute in the standard television cartoon for children under the age of 10." He said that "there is an average of six times more violence during one hour of children's television than there is in one hour of adult television."

Rothenberg said that the time is long past due for an organized cry of protest from parents and also from the medical profession to what he called "a national scandal," because " to be silent is to acquiesce, and it is clear that if we truly care about our children, we canot be silent."

Prof. Anne R. Somers, writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, was correct when she said that television is a molder not a mirror of social values, and that "for a considerable proportion of American children and youth, violence has become a major health problem." She identified a major cause as "television's massive daily diet of symbolic crime and violence in 'entertainment' programs."

The television networks should be applauded for instituting the Family Hour and for appealing the recent federal court decision against it.

If the networks do not engage in responsible self-regulation, the American public may come to the same conclusion reached by Malcolm Muggeridge: "The corruption of our children is absolutely appalling. On television they see the family ridiculed, marital fidelity ridiculed and a crass materialism constantly being preached ... Parents would do well to never let their children watch television."

By The Honorable William E. Simon.

(With government growth becoming a major public concern, William E. Simon, Secretary of the Treasury, was asked for his views on the biggest problem in the relationship between government and the private sector—and what can be done about it. Here is his reply.)

This has built up a momentum of outlays that has pushed the budget to four times its size of the early 1960s, created deficits that caused severe strains on financial markets—soaking up funds that might have gone for job creation and other purposes— added greatly to inflationary pressures and helped generate a boom-and-bust climate that brought on the 1974-75 recession, our worst in a generation.

As if these excesses weren't enough, the government simultaneously has expanded its web of coontrols and regulations over private enterprise. Some of these controls are in the public interest, but many more are unfair, anticompetitive, lead to higher prices and stifle initiative and innovation at the very source of five out of every six jobs in the country— our private sector.

So I submit that the central task, the overriding challenge before this great nation, is to stem this tide of bloated government and, at the same time, to strengthen the free enterprise sector of our economcy before it is too late.

I know that it's fashionable these days for candidates of every political coloration to take a stand against "big government." But many of these same candidates are also asking the voters to support policies that will lead to more spending, more controls, more regulating. Let me assure you that regardless of the anti-Washington rhetoric emanating from the banks of the Potomac, the spend-spend, elect-elect syndrome is alive and well.

To break this cycle and return the U.S. economy to full vigor, we must carry out a program that achieves these goals:

Reduction of runaway government spending which—as more and more citizens have come to realize—is our greatest single domestic problem.

Skillful management of economic affairs by creating an environment conducive to sustained, non-inflationary growth and more reliance on the free market.

Prosperity through encouragement of the private sector—the right road to better jobs, higher wages, greater output per worker and enlargement of the economic pie so that all citizens may enjoy a larger slice.

Reduction of the level of taxation for individuals and businesses to avoid the stultification that afflicts societies when the state consumes a bigger and bigger portion of the national product.

When I warn against governmental power, it is not because I am blindly anti-government. I'm not. I want government to perform well those tasks which government alone can perform well those tasks which government alone can perform or those it can properly undertake in partnership with the private sector.

But the sad truth is that the federal government has gotten out of hand. It is trying to do more than the nation 's resources will allow, to do things it cannot do well, and to do others it should not be doing at all—and to do all this simultaneously. Government has lost its way and become the problem, not the solution, and in so doing it has forfeited the right to the full trust and confidence of the American people.

We need to readjust the balance between citizen and government, a balance that favors greater reliance on the individual and on that level of government closest to the individual. We need a government that is not afraid to examine itself, not afraid to say "we should be doing this" or, more important, "we should not be doing that." We need a government that can nourish the natural forces of a free economy, get off the backs of our innovators and job producers, and reawaken the energies of our people by strengthening, rather than weakening, their freedoms.

Freedom, in the final analysis, is what this country is all about. To preserve our freedoms we must recognize that they are bound up together, that if our economic freedom goes, so do our individual and political freedoms.

UN Money Machine:

UNITED NATIONS — This futuristic, glass-enclosed Fourth World is equipped with a locked-in Money Machine -- meaning the United States.

Our government jackpots it out annually to friend and Marxist-Leninist foe alike by the scores of millions of dollars.

This, in turn, enables ambassadors from nations which are specks on vast continents or dots in endless oceans to live on suburban estates, in $1,200-a-month apartments or in almost priceless town houses; to drive in custom-built cars and eat $25-a-lobster meals in nearby restaurants.

Our multi-million-dollar grants and "loans" enable the Marxist-Leninist governments back home to operate propaganda machines which denounce America, destroy capitalism, maintain political parties which are the state and run trigger-happy people's militias to make certain that any dissenter has a one-way pass to re-education centers conveniently enclosed by barbed wire.

Just the other week, for example, a casualty of the 1972 presidential election, Sen. George McGovern, now a U.S. delegate to the United Nations General Assembly, reported to this Fourth World's Committees that the U.S. has decided to contribute $100 million to the UN Development Program for fiscal year 1977. Courtesy of the U.S. Congress.

Further, to make certain that at least one fledgling, professionally brutal anti-U.S. Marxist-Leninist state got a bit more than it would out of the UNDP, McGovern announced we had given an additional $10 million to Mozambique. This is called a "Grant-Agreement" with that government. Which I interpret to mean Mozambique agrees to take our capitalist cash.

In addition, there were millions more donated in "significant food assistance." The theory is that the U.S. is thus helping Mozambique because that "brave new world" (see Aldous Huxley) is fighting white Rhodesia. And therefore is hurting itself. All of which soon enough will be proven untrue -- I mean the bit about hurting itself.

Authoritative records disclose that Mozambique actually is trading heavily with the Republic of South Africa, now Rhodesia's patron state. Actually there are 180,000 youthful Mozambiquians, of whom 83,000 are gold miners, working in South Africa. They are the guest workers, as are the Turks in West Germany.

The difference is that the South African mining companies send 60 per cent of the Mozambiquian workers' wages directly to the Mozambique government. In gold bullion. When the gold-diggers return home, however, they are repaid the 60 per cent in Mozambique's domestic confetti money. Thus do the young diggers from Mozambique send millions of dollars of their wages back home each year.

At the same time, despite Iowa Sen. Richard Clark's big-brother sentiment towards Mozambique, its Marxist dictator Samora Machel has slashed the U.S. and world capitalism in speech after speech. I have several inches of documents to prove this. These are easily obtainable and one wonders why Sen. Clark, head of the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on African Affairs, appears to ignore them.

Thus, the special grants of millions of American dollars are based on what seem to me to be hypocritical socio-philosophical standards. The real motive for such favoritism can only be surmised.

The reliable record to which I've referred state: "Mozambique, despite its militantly Marxist and anti-apartheid positions, has growing economic relations with South Africa ... The Pretoria (South African capital) regime is Mozambique's second biggest customer. Last year South Africa provided approximately $120 million of Mozambique's total foreign exchange earnings of some $300 million, consisting of $50 million from harbor and railway duties; $10 million from South African imports of Mozambique's goods; $10 million from South African tourists and $50 million from Mozambique's miners working in South Africa."

And after Mozambique was yielded its independence by Portugal in June 1975, the new Marxist state "signed a 10-year contract for Mozambique to supply energy to South Africa."

This will come from a dam which will dispatch 90 per cent of its energy production to South Africa, which will pay its bills in South Africa's own hard currency. Thus, it will provide Mozambique with additional vital foreign exchange.

There are other Maputo (Mozambique's capital)-Pretoria agreements. On modernizing of the railroad link between both nations. Developing Maputo's ports, etc., etc. During the 1975-76 period -- both before and after Mozambique's independence -- South Africa will have spent $165 million on the Marxist nation's ports and railways.

Why then is the U.S. giving Mozambique $10 million as a grant and additional fmoney for food? Sen. McGovern and his congressional bloc have talked endlessly about poverty in the U.S. and "the hungry." That $10 million would go a long way, if properly spent, among the rural poor and inner-city disadvantaged right here in America.

Why are we paying out huge fistfuls of big bank notes to those whose essential philosophical and political concepts not only bite the hands which feed them but which would destroy our way of life?

Why are we subsidizing Marxist Mozambique's productivity failure? Isn't this a subsidy to terror, to those who have thrust tens of thousands into concentration camps?

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Organized Crime War Falters

by Jack Anderson and Les Whitten

WASHINGTON -- A confidential study by the General Accounting Office (GAO) charges tersely that "the war on organized crime is faltering." The rackets continue to flourish across America, according to the study, despite federal attempts to crack down on the mob.

The study lays most of the blame on the federal strike forces, which spearhead the national effort to disrupt organized crime. The strike forces, states the study, "are not getting the job done."

At the same time, the strike forces have come under intensive fire inside the Justice Dept. Critics have accused them of subverting the judicial processes and abusing their powers. In their zeal, some task forces have hounded and harassed suspects who couldn't be convicted.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard Thornburgh, the conscientious chief of the Justice Dept.'s criminal division, has had misgivings about the strike forces. He recently shut down the strike forces in St. Louis and New Orleans. He also put the New Jersey strike force under U.S. Attorney Jonathan Goldstein's jurisdiction.

Finally, Thornburgh removed the respected William Lynch as head of the organized crime section, which oversees the strike forces. Lynch was compelled to trade places with Kurt Muellenberg, who had been running the narcotics section.

These developments have sent shock waves reverberating through the organized crime section. Inside sources have told us that morale on the strike forces is at an all-time low. There is concern that more strike forces may be disbanded.

Muellenberg has paid quiet calls on several strike forces to allay the apprehension. He told us he would never have taken the job if he had thought Thornburgh was trying to kill the strike forces.

Yet the malaise remains. We interviewed several strike force investigators. Most complained about a lack of communication between Washington and the field. Others suspected the motives of those who are trying to curb the strike forces.

Some strike force prosecutors are thinking about leaving the Justice Dept. to go into private practice. Others have simply adopted a "wait and see" attitude.

At the last meeting between Thornburgh and the strike force chiefs, we have learned, Thornburgh was not responsive to their complaints. The confidential GAO study also claims the fight against organized crime lacks organization and direction.

In a lengthy discussion with our associate Marc Smolonsky, Thornburgh conceded that organized crime is proliferating and that federal opposition should be better organized. But he challenged the GAO's auditing methods as a reliable measure of the Justice Dept.'s effectiveness in combating the mob.

He also blamed the American people for the growth of organized crime. It will "continue to flourish," he warned, "until the American citizenry chooses to withdraw its patronage from these multimillion-dollar sources of income, influence and power."

As evidence that the Justice Dept. is not soft on organized crime, he pointed out that six of the most powerful Mafia bosses from Brooklyn, Los Angeles, Montreal, New York City and St. Louis are now behind federal bars.

Thornburgh agreed, nevertheless, that the strike forces aren't focusing on the important organized crime cases as they should.

"Even where prosecutions ultimately result in convictions," he said, "the cost is often high in terms of the attitude of judges and members of the bar."

He had received complaints from judges and U.S. attorneys alike, he said, "about inept performances by strike force attorneys."

The strike forces "have come to be characterized by young, inexperienced and untrained attorneys," he said. They pursue "too many routine cases, often against organized crime underlings, relatives and associates."

One strike force chief grumped, meanwhile, that the situation "couldn't get worse."

WATCH ON WASTE: The Defense Dept. could save hundreds of thousands of dollars simply by consolidating its data processing systems in the Far East. This is the conclusion of the General Accounting Office, which has just submitted its unpublished findings to the Pentagon.

Consolidating the computer facilities in Hawaii alone, states the report, would save an estimated $110,600.

The Navy operates two separate data systems for security reasons. One handles classified data from Top Secret on down; the other handles data more sensitive than Top Secret. Apparently, all it would take to combine the two would be to issue a few more security clearances.

SEX DISCRIMINATION: Officials tried to suppress a scientific study of sex discrimination at the Federal Aviation Administration. We have obtained a copy of the study, which is based upon a statistical analysis. Using computers, an investigator compared the pay and promotion of men and women with similar backgrounds. The conclusion was that "whopping discrimination" is still going on.

The report never got out of the FAA's personnel office. An official, denying it was suppressed, explained that it couldn't be released "until my supervisory people had a chance to see it. It may have been a matter of miscommunication."

Hearsts may get custody of Patty

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Patricia Hearst was wisked out of a federal prison here in the dead of night, an official at the Metropolitan Correctional Center said today.

Her destination was unknown, but with $500,000 bond posted by her family to free her while awaiting trial in Southern California, she needed only the approval of a San Francisco judge to be free for the first time in more than a year while she appeals her bank robbery conviction.

The official at the correctional center, who declined to have his name used, said Miss Hearst was driven away by two federal marshals about 4:50 a.m. EST.

Members of a television camera crew stationed at the prison said they saw a black-and-white car speed away in the darkness.

U.S. District Court Judge William Orrick, who in September sentenced Miss Hearst to seven years in prison, was expected to rule today on a request that the 22-year-old newspaper heiress be released in her parents' custody under a secret security plan.

Orrick must decide whether she is still a flight risk. She had been ordered held without bail after her capture in September 1975.

The only other obstacle to Miss Hearst's freedom was removed on Thursday when her father and uncle signed a $500,000 personal surety bond on pending Los Angeles charges of kidnap, assault and robbery.

Miss Hearst faces a January 10 trial in that case involving a wild shooting at an Inglewood, Calif., sporting goods store that occurred while she was a fugitive member of the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army.

Ann Landers

Parents' spats unfair to kids

Dear Ann Landers: I am 16, my brother is 15 and we have an 11- year- old sister. The problem is our parents. They act like four- year- olds.

Dad is Italian and Mom is Irish. Grandma says the combination is like gasoline and a blowtorch. Whenever they have an argument the neighbors upstairs start banging on the pipes with a hammer and the people downstairs knock on our floor (their ceiling) with a broom handle.

A boy I like at school is best friends with the kid who lives upstairs. I just die when Mom and Dad fight because I think maybe Rick is up there listening to them cuss each other out.

Do you think it is fair for parents to put their kids in the middle of fights? This is the question we need you to answer, Ann. We three kids have to sit down and pretend we are the jury. Mom and Dad take turns "presenting their cases" and we have to vote. Whichever one we vote against gets mad and then we catch it.

Please say something about this in the paper because Mom and Dad read your column and we need a grownup to speak our piece. P.S. Divorce is out. We are strong Catholics. -- Children of Childish Parents

Dear Children: Someone on the scene should speak for you. How about a favorite teacher, a school counselor, your family doctor or your priest? Maybe an aunt or uncle or a close friend?

Your parents must be made to understand how unfair they are being to you kids. Go through the list I've suggested and surely SOMEONE can intervene in your behalf and get those two into counseling. They certainly need it -- for your sake as well as theirs. Good luck to all of you.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a retired funeral director who would like to comment on the letter from the 18- year- old boy who couln't shed a tear at his grandmother's funeral but cried his eyes out when his cat, Daisy, died.

My entire working life was spent with people who were dealing with death and grieving. Unfortunately, our society denies death and suppresses the open show of grief. (Tears are thought to be "unmanly.") Young people in particular do not share the final days or the planning of funeral rites.

The death of a pet is usually quite different. It is immediate, visible, often violent and sudden. The feeling of loss and separation is absolute and final.

I hope "Crossed Wires" will see this and not feel guilty. His reaction was normal. Sometimes those who weep the loudest in public do so out of guilt.

When my wife died I didn't cry until months later, when the Christmas holidays were upon me -- then all the old memories closed in at once. This is the way it is with many people, Ann. -- Older and Wiser

Dear O. and W.: Your explanation makes a great deal of sense. Many thanks for sharing your wisdom and all those years of professional experience.

Dear Ann: A woman I considered a good friend told my sister some very unkind things about me. She is a terrible liar and very destructive. Whenever we're together she is sweet as pie. What should I say to her the next time we meet and she falls all over me? --Maligned

Dear Mal: Tell her there are two things you don't like about her -- her face. She'll understand.

Bulldogs top SeMo North voting

Conference champion Sikeston and runner-up Poplar Bluff dominated the voting for All-Conference honors in the Northern Division of the SeMo Football Conference as the league's coaches met Wednesday evening to select and honor outstanding players from the eight conference teams.

Sikeston, which won the championship with a 14-7 victory over the Mules in the final game of the regular season, placed eight players on the 29-man first team that was selected by the coaches. Six of the eight Bulldogs given first team honors were offensive players.

Poplar Bluff was represented on the elite squad with seven players, while Jackson had six. Four first team spots went to players from Perryville, with two going to Dexter and one to Charleston and Cape Central. Kennett was not represented on the first team.

Because of the abundance of top-notch runners and receivers in the Northern Division this year, four of each were chosen to the squad. Backs chosen to the first team were James Wilder and Paul Bean of Sikeston, Stuart Prevallet of Perryville and David Webb of Poplar Bluff. Tight end Rusty Adams and split end Kelly Green of Jackson were picked, along with flanker Paul Gilbow of Sikeston ad split end Mike Grubbs of Dexter.

Dexter quarterback Lance Espey, the conference's leader in passing yardage and one of only five juniors selected, was awarded first team honors at his position.

Three of the five offensive line positions went to Sikeston players -- tackle Hal Butler, guard Keith Stinson and center Robert Grant. Tackle Ken Weinrich of Perryville and guard Lance Carlson of Poplar Bluff rounded out the offensive team, which also included punter Mike Gohn of Jackson and kicker Paul Roberts of Poplar Bluff.

On defense, Sikeston and Poplar Bluff had two linemen each represented on the squad. Tackle Wayne Turpin and nose guard Alfred White of the Bulldogs joined Kent Wengerter of Perryville and Bill Coates and Brett Matthews of Poplar Bluff on the five-man front. Turpin was the only senior on the line.

The first team linebackers were from four different teams and were all seniors. Poplar Bluff's Victor Ortega, Charleston's Lawrence Baugh, Perryville's Mark Guth and Jackson's Mike Gohn were honored. Two of the three defensive secondary positions went to Jackson, with Rich Weith and Jim Thompson being named first team halfbacks. Gary Casey of Poplar Bluff and Reggie Patterson of Cape Central were the other defensive backs.

Twenty-six players were chosen for the second team, with Sikeston again leading the way with seven. Cape Central, which was blanked on the first team roster, had five athletes make the second team.

Southern Division teams will be announced Monday.

Gullett inks Yank pact; Matthews goes to Braves

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees and the Atlanta Braves, who took home the prizes in past free-agent sweepstakes, are still playing the game.

The Yankees signed Catfish Hunter, the first free agent in modern times, on New Year's Eve, 1974. On Thursday, they became the first team with matching free-agent pitchers, adding left-handed Don Gullett to the right-handed Hunter.

When Hunter's auction was held, he was the only player eligible. The law of supply and demand escalated his value to a five-year package worth $3.5 million. With 24 free agents available this time, money isn't being thrown around as readily. Gullett signed a six-year contract worth in the neighborhood of $2 million.

That's a little more than Gary Matthews got for moving south to Atlanta to join the 1975 free-agent, pitcher Andy Messersmith. Matthews, a strong offensive and defensive outfielder, will receive $1.75 million over five years to play with the Braves.

That's not a bad pay raise considering the fact that Matthews made $46,000 with San Francisco in 1975, asked for $65,000 in 1976 but was only offered $60,000 by the Giants.

Matthews, 26, turned down a higher offer of more than $2 million from the Montreal Expos. Higher income taxes in Canada and the cold weather were factors in that decision.

Matthews, a lifetime .285 hitter with the Giants, said Thursday at the press conference announcing his signing that he was happy "to get out of the cold on the West Coast."

Gullett is changing leagues, moving from the biggest winner in baseball, the Cincinnati Reds, to the American League champion Yankees.

"I'm coming to a winning baseball team," said Gullett. "I can't wait to get started."

Gullett won the opening game of the World Series against the Yankees, but left the game early because of a dislocated tendon in his ankle. He says the ankle is fine.

Harris using more than hands and feet this year

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ike Harris of the St. Louis Cardinals is using some of his skills as an accountant to become one of the most productive pass receivers in the National Football League this season.

Introspective and studious, the 23-year-old Harris enjoyed the finest game in his three-year professional career last Sunday, catching eight passes from quarterback Jim Hart for 130 yards.

The performance vaulted the Iowa State business graduate into ninth place among league receivers with 41 catches for 574 yards.

"I think one of the big benefits I have this season is experience," Harris said. "I was able to read zone coverages seven or eight yards off the line last year, but this year I can read them three to four yards off."

Harris, who is working to become a certified public accountant, was drafted in the fourth round by St. Louis in 1974 but chose to play in te World Football League.

While with the Southern California Sun, he was employed during the off-season by an accounting firm and has since been transferred to its office in Des Moines, Iowa.

Harris joined the Cardinals last season but saw little action until the final third of the year when he beat out Earl Thomas for the wide receiver spot opposite Mel Gray. Starting the last five games, Harris caught 15 passes for 266 yards and was named the team's rookie of the year.

"We knew Ike was good," Coach Don Coryell said, "but it takes a while to learn about Ike's abilities because he's not a flashy player.

"But he is extremely intelligent, does exactly what (receiver coach) Harry Gilmer tells him to do and has leaping ability and good hands."

Before the season began, Harris set two goals for himself.

"I kind of judge myself diffrently than most receivers," he explained. "My first goal was to start all the games the Cardinals played this year and not to drop more than two balls all year. I think that's the true way to judge my ability, catching the football."

The West Memphis, Ark., native admits he dropped one ball in the Cardinals' loss to San Diego, one of the blemishes on their 8-2 record, but he hopes there will be no more.

Harris' coolness under fire is uncommon for a young player, Coryell noted.

During the cliff-hanger with Los Angeles, he made seven of his eight catches in the Cardinals' come-from-behind effort during the second half.

The West Memphis, Ark., native admits he dropped one ball in the Cardinals' loss to San Diego, one of the blemishes on their 8-2 record, but he hopes there will be no more.

Harris' coolness under fire is uncommon for a young player, Coryell noted.

During the cliff-hanger with Los Angeles, he made seven of his eight catches in the Cardinals' come-from-behind effort during the second half.

Phelps has high hopes for no-name Panthers

By CHARLIE FRANCIS
Daily Standard Sports Editor

LILBOURN — It's hard to be optimistic going into a basketball season when a coach has lost five starters from a powerhouse team that made it to the state quarterfinals.

But Lilbourn coach Bob Phelps, with only four seniors on his 13-man roster and without a bona-fide star on the squad, is surprisingly confident about his team's chances this season.

"Overall, this is the most balanced team I've had," said Phelps, who is in his third year at the helm of the Panthers after taking over for Larry Warren.

Gone are all five starters from last year's team, including three-time all-stater Frankie Robinson and all-conference athlete Jimmie Baker. The Panthers of a year ago, expected by many to win the State Class 2-A championship for the third straight season, were knocked out of the tournament by Clearwater in the quarterfinals at Cape, losing 68-67. Clearwater went on to finish second in the state.

"There's no really outstanding player this year," Phelps admitted about the 76-77 version of the Panthers. "But we'll be able to play better team basketball."

The most experienced player returning to the Lilbourn lineup will be senior guard James Berry. The 5-9 sharpshooter, who gained valuable experience in a substitute role last season, came off the bench to score twelve points against Kelly in the second half of the Class 2-A state tournament opening round game, lifting the Panthers to a78-69 victory. "That game gave him a lot of confidence," said Phelps about his number one guard, who stands at 5-9.

Alfarmia Hampton, a 5-8 junior, will start at the other guard spot. Hampton, one of four starters who played on Lilbourn's B team, is described as a good shooter and ball handler. "He plays pretty good defense, too," Phelps added.

Senior Dale Chamberlain and junior Donald Neal will start at the forward positions after playing jayvee ball last year. Chamberlain, built more like a guard at 5-9 and 127 pounds, didn't play a lot a year ago but has won a starting berth on the varsity this year. Chamberlain's defense is his strongest point. Neal, a 6-0 junior, didn't start on the B team but has improved enough to win a starting job on the varsity this year. "He's coming along real well," Phelps said.

The starting center should be Willie Johnson, a 6-2 junior. Johnson, a fair jumper, averaged 12 points per game on the B team last year.

"We're gonna move that ball," the Lilbourn coach said in describing the Panther offensive strategy this season. With three starters under six feet and the tallest at 6-2, the Panthers will have to rely on their speed, "We'll have to run a lot to win."

The Panthers, who opened the season Monday night by defeating Parma 92-75 in the opening round of the North Pemiscot Invitational Tournament, will probably get off to a slow start this year, at least according to Phelps. "But by the time the second semester rolls around, we should be playing some pretty good ball."

Oran, Notre Dame

KELLY — Top seeded Oran outlasted the host Kelly Hawks last night to advance into the championship game of the Kelly B Team Tournament at 8:00 Saturday night against the Notre Dame Bulldogs. Oran won over Kelly, 53-40, while Notre Dame defeated Delta rather easily, 60-38.

In the first game, Burley led Oran with 17 points while his teammate, Harris, also hit in double figures with an even dozen. Burley hit his points mainly on medium to long range jump shots. Oran jumped out to a 17-12 first period lead and were never headed. They outscored their hosts in every quarter with the final margin being 13 points.

In the second encounter of the evening, the Notre Dame Bulldogs used their superior height advantage to run over the Delta Bobcats. Brothers Joe and Jim Schlitt led the way for the Bulldogs as 6-3 Joe scored 13 points, blocked numerous shots, and hauled in many rebounds, but was outscored for team scoring honors by brother Jim who hit for 14 tallies.

Tim Vance led Delta's scoring with 15, which was also high game honors. the score at halftime was 35-17 in favor of the Bulldogs and the eventually won going away as both coaches played every member of their team.

In Saturday's first game, host Kelly takes on the Delta Bobcats for third place. Game time for that one will be 6:30.

Rose Bowl's eyes are on Columbus and Los Angeles

By The Associated Press

It's showdown Saturday in Columbus, Ohio, and Los Angeles.

The Minnesotas, Iowas, Californias and Stanfords have all fallen by the wayside again. As usual, it will be Michigan against Ohio State to decide who wins the Big Ten and a spot in the Rose Bowl. And UCLA against Southern California for the Pacific-8 championship and the other berth in the Rose Bowl.

No. 4 Michigan, 9-1 after its untimely loss to Purdue a couple of weeks ago, needs a victory to get a share of the title and a probable trip to Pasadena, Calif., New Year's Day. No. 8 Ohio State, 8-1-1, is unbeaten in the Big Ten and can wrap up first place with a tie Saturday.

Michigan mixes its versatile running game with the passing of quarterback Rick Leach to provide a more balanced attack, but the Buckeyes' have a strong one-two ground attack with massive fullback Pete Johnson and tailback Jeff Logan.

Both No. 2 UCLA, 9-0-1, and No. 3 Southern Cal, 8-1, are undefeated in the Pac-8. Both boast exceptional running backs who have been slowed by injuries. Southern Cal's Ricky Bell will play but UCLA's Wendell Tyler, who has a shoulder injury, may not.

Among other ranked teams, No. 1 Pittsburgh takes the week off to prepare for its showdown with No. 17 Penn State Nov. 26. The Panthers are apparently bound for the Sugar Bowl against Southeast Conference champ Georgia.

No. 5 Texas Tech faces No. 9 Houston in a Southwest Conference showdown with a possible trip to the Cotton Bowl bid in the offing. Maryland, co-ranked No. 6 with Georgia, puts its unbeaten record on the line at Virginia. The Terrapins have been promised a Cotton Bowl invitation if they win.

No. 11 Texas A&M hosts Texas Christian, No. 13 Notre Dame entertains Miami, Fla., and No. 14 Iowa State visits No. 16 Oklahoma State. Both teams are among the five-way tie for first place in the Big Eight, as is No. 15 Colorado, which visits Kansas State. No. 19 Missouri hosts Kansas.

Along with Pittsburgh and Penn State, Georgia, No. 10 Oklahoma, No. 12 Nebraska, No. 18 Alabama and Rutgers, tied for No. 19, are idle.

Lilbourn holds off North Pemiscot to gain finals

WARDELL — Top- seeded Lilbourn battled North Pemiscot right down to the wire before Donnell Wilderness came through with a pair of clutch buckets and his teammates contributed from the freethrow line as the Panthers escaped with a 75-68 victory in the semifinals of the North Pemiscot Invitational Tournament Thursday night at Wardell.

Lilbourn had led by as many as seven points in the first half, but the Mustangs battled back to tie the game at 35-all going into the intermission. The see-saw battle continued into the second half, with neither team being able to establish a commanding lead. The Panthers got help from Wilderness, who came off the bench to score twelve points, four of them late in the game to help establish a three-point Lilbourn lead with 30 seconds to go. North Pemiscot was forced into the desperation foul situation, and the Panthers iced the game from the charity stripe. Lilbourn made 11 freethrows in the fourth period after having hit only four during the first three frames.

Donald Neal, Lilbourn's junior forward, gunned in 26 points to pace the 11-man scoring attack. Walls led North Pemiscot with 23.

Ted Landers' 27 points led Risco to a 65-56 consolation bracket victory over Parma. Joe Johnson added 18 for the winnters. Tommy Wright and Mark Beaird scored 17 and 16 for Parma, respectively.

Hayti takes on Southland tonight at 6:30 in the consolation bracket game which precedes a semifinal matchup between New Madrid and Delta C-7 at 8:00. The tournament concludes Saturday evening.

McKeon is named Oakland skipper

OAKLAND (AP) — For the 14th time since purchasing the A's franchise in 1961, Charles O. Finley has changed managers, and Jack McKeon says he is "really very thrilled" to have been chosen.

McKeon, former manager of the Kansas City Royals who piloted Atlanta's Richmond farm club in the International League last season, was given a one-year contract to lead talent-depleted Oakland.

"It's gonna take a little patience," McKeon said Thursday in a telephone interview after returning to his home in Burlington, N.C. "We'll probably have to force-feed a few young prospects into the lineup.

"But you know Charlie. He'll find some way of getting some pretty good ballplayers. He's done it in the past, and he will do it again."

The A's have lost several star players who helped them win three straight World Series from 1972-4, most of them during the season just ended when they played out their options.

McKeon, who will be 46 Tuesday, said he was invited to Chicago where Finley offered him the job at a luncheon Thursday. Later in the day, Finley released the news from the A's office here.

McKeon managed in the minors for 18 years before going to Kansas City in 1973 when the Royals finished second to the A's in the American League West. Kansas City slid to fifth in 1974, and McKeon was fired in July, 1975. At the end of the 1975 season, he scouted the Boston Red Sox in the playoffs for Finley.

His Richmond club finished fourth last season and lost in the International League playoff final. Currently, McKeon is coaching Santurce, which is tied for first place in the Puerto Rican Winter League. He said he expects to stay with the Puerto Rican club, at least through December and possibly until the winter league ends Jan. 12.

Rose Bowl's eyes are on Columbus and Los Angeles

By The Associated Press

It's showdown Saturday in Columbus, Ohio, and Los Angeles.

The Minnesotas, Iowas, Californias and Stanfords have all fallen by the wayside again. As usual, it will be Michigan against Ohio State to decide who wins the Big Ten and a spot in the Rose Bowl. And UCLA against Southern California for the Pacific-8 championship and the other berth in the Rose Bowl.

No. 4 Michigan, 9-1 after its untimely loss to Purdue a couple of weeks ago, needs a victory to get a share of the title and a probable trip to Pasadena, Calif., New Year's Day. No. 8 Ohio State, 8-1-1, is unbeaten in the Big Ten and can wrap up first place with a tie Saturday.

Michigan mixes its versatile running game with the passing of quarterback Rick Leach to provide a more balanced attack, but the Buckeyes' have a strong one-two ground attack with massive fullback Pete Johnson and tailback Jeff Logan.

Both No. 2 UCLA, 9-0-1, and No. 3 Southern Cal, 8-1, are undefeated in the Pac-8. Both boast exceptional running backs who have been slowed by injuries. Southern Cal's Ricky Bell will play but UCLA's Wendell Tyler, who has a shoulder injury, may not.

Among other ranked teams, No. 1 Pittsburgh takes the week off to prepare for its showdown with No. 17 Penn State Nov. 26. The Panthers are apparently bound for the Sugar Bowl against Southeast Conference champ Georgia.

No. 5 Texas Tech faces No. 9 Houston in a Southwest Conference showdown with a possible trip to the Cotton Bowl bid in the offing. Maryland, co-ranked No. 6 with Georgia, puts its unbeaten record on the line at Virginia. The Terrapins have been promised a Cotton Bowl invitation if they win.

No. 11 Texas A&M hosts Texas Christian, No. 13 Notre Dame entertains Miami, Fla., and No. 14 Iowa State visits No. 16 Oklahoma State. Both teams are among the five-way tie for first place in the Big Eight, as is No. 15 Colorado, which visits Kansas State. No. 19 Missouri hosts Kansas.

Along with Pittsburgh and Penn State, Georgia, No. 10 Oklahoma, No. 12 Nebraska, No. 18 Alabama and Rutgers, tied for No. 19, are idle.

Lilbourn holds off North Pemiscot to gain finals

WARDELL — Top- seeded Lilbourn battled North Pemiscot right down to the wire before Donnell Wilderness came through with a pair of clutch buckets and his teammates contributed from the freethrow line as the Panthers escaped with a 75-68 victory in the semifinals of the North Pemiscot Invitational Tournament Thursday night at Wardell.

Lilbourn had led by as many as seven points in the first half, but the Mustangs battled back to tie the game at 35-all going into the intermission. The see-saw battle continued into the second half, with neither team being able to establish a commanding lead. The Panthers got help from Wilderness, who came off the bench to score twelve points, four of them late in the game to help establish a three-point Lilbourn lead with 30 seconds to go. North Pemiscot was forced into the desperation foul situation, and the Panthers iced the game from the charity stripe. Lilbourn made 11 freethrows in the fourth period after having hit only four during the first three frames.

Donald Neal, Lilbourn's junior forward, gunned in 26 points to pace the 11-man scoring attack. Walls led North Pemiscot with 23.

Ted Landers' 27 points led Risco to a 65-56 consolation bracket victory over Parma. Joe Johnson added 18 for the winnters. Tommy Wright and Mark Beaird scored 17 and 16 for Parma, respectively.

Hayti takes on Southland tonight at 6:30 in the consolation bracket game which precedes a semifinal matchup between New Madrid and Delta C-7 at 8:00. The tournament concludes Saturday evening.

McKeon is named Oakland skipper

OAKLAND (AP) — For the 14th time since purchasing the A's franchise in 1961, Charles O. Finley has changed managers, and Jack McKeon says he is "really very thrilled" to have been chosen.

McKeon, former manager of the Kansas City Royals who piloted Atlanta's Richmond farm club in the International League last season, was given a one-year contract to lead talent-depleted Oakland.

"It's gonna take a little patience," McKeon said Thursday in a telephone interview after returning to his home in Burlington, N.C. "We'll probably have to force-feed a few young prospects into the lineup.

"But you know Charlie. He'll find some way of getting some pretty good ballplayers. He's done it in the past, and he will do it again."

The A's have lost several star players who helped them win three straight World Series from 1972-4, most of them during the season just ended when they played out their options.

McKeon, who will be 46 Tuesday, said he was invited to Chicago where Finley offered him the job at a luncheon Thursday. Later in the day, Finley released the news from the A's office here.

McKeon managed in the minors for 18 years before going to Kansas City in 1973 when the Royals finished second to the A's in the American League West. Kansas City slid to fifth in 1974, and McKeon was fired in July, 1975. At the end of the 1975 season, he scouted the Boston Red Sox in the playoffs for Finley.

His Richmond club finished fourth last season and lost in the International League playoff final. Currently, McKeon is coaching Santurce, which is tied for first place in the Puerto Rican Winter League. He said he expects to stay with the Puerto Rican club, at least through December and possibly until the winter league ends Jan. 12.

On the light side of the news

VERSAILLES, Ind. (AP) — Motorists near this southeastern Indiana town should be on the lookout for hiccuping horses with a hangover and boozed-up bulls.

A transport truck carrying 40,000 pounds of 188 proof alcohol overturned on U.S. 50 near here Tuesday, spilling its contents into a creek that cuts through farmland on its way to the Ohio River.

Trooper Lyman Conley said the alcohol would cause no damage.

Truck driver Michael Worstell, 32, of Louisville, Ky. suffered minor injuries and was listed in good condition.

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — This city's eternal flame — snuffed out by overzealous hot dog roasters — is headed for a facelift.

The flame, originally lighted in McFarlan Park on Memorial Day 1970 and supposed to burn forever on natural gas, became a favorite for barbecuers andfell victim to hot dog drippings about a year ago.

Last Thursday, it was relighted for Veteran's Day and was renamed the Freedom Flame.

Now Genesee County officials are lifting the base of the flame about eight feet — partly to honor the county's war dead but mostly to get it eternally free of the reach of outdoor cooks.

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Pssst — wanna buy an adult game? Bob Reiss will sell you such diversions as "Seduction," "Lie, Cheat & Steal," and "Compatibility."

Reiss, head of a game company that bears his name, says his most popular offering is is "Lie, Cheat & Steal: The Game of Political Power," in which players scheme their way to prominence. The game came out before Watergate, but Reiss acknowledges that the scandal gave sales a boost.

"But it'll be current years from now," he said. "All you have to do is pick up a paper in any town and there's lying, cheating and stealing right in front of you."

It is now generally believed that seals with their human-like faces were the factual basis for many stories about mermaids.

Elledge selects films for cancer education

Nationwide, American Education Week is being observed this week (Nov. 14-20) and the Scott County unit of the American Cancer Society has chosen this week as a period of emphasis on the society's education program.

Ernest Elledge

Ernest Elledge, public education chairman of the Scott County unit, has selected an educational cancer film and related educational literature for a forthcoming program to be presented in Scott County.

Elledge serves year-round as an ACS volunteer in the society's education program and is now scheduling future education programs in the county. Along with the Missouri Division, ACS office, a library of educational cancer films and literature is maintained at the SeMo Area ACS office, 1427 Thomas Drive, Cape Girardeau.

An educational program is available for any type audience or group, for showings to clubs and organizations, business and industry, neighborhood groups, home extension clubs, church, school and professional groups and most types of gatherings.

ACS educational cancer programs are free and are tailored to the time and interest of any size group. Films are shared by ACS units all over Missouri. For that reason, persons desiring an educational program are asked to contact Elledge at his home, 1002 Virginia St., Sikeston, telephone number 471-4455, 10 days prior to the program date.

Elledge emphasized, "Education is the key to early diagnosis, and early diagnosis is the key to more cancer cures. We need to alert all persons to the early warning signals of cancer and stress the importance of the annual health check-up. Early detection is of vital importance to all citizens. It is a part of our hope to help save more lives through early diagnosis and prompt treatment."

Approximately 370,000 Americans will die of cancer this year, and about 9,200 will be Missourians. It is estimated that nearly half of these people will die because their cancer was not discovered soon enough. Many of these may have sought a doctor's diagnosis and treatment much sooner if they had been exposed to some of the information that the American Cancer Society can provide.

Several types of cancer programs are available including: lung cancer, colon cancer, skin cander, breast cancer and uterine cancer. Other programs deal with cancer in general, the seven warning signals of cancer, cancer-health checkup, cancer research and cancer quackery.

Felts to join stars on 'Hee-Haw' Dec. 4

MALDEN — Narvel Felts fans may soon hear the cry, "I'd like to salute my home town — Malden, Mo.; population 5,374!" when the popular singer appears on "Hee Haw" Dec. 4.

The show will be aired by KFVS-TV in Cape Girardeau in this area at 6 p.m.

Felts, taking a brief break in Malden from his current tour of the northeastern United States and southeastern Canada, says he has been notified that segments he has already taped will be aired on "Hee Haw".

The country-and-western singer says he taped two of his songs — "Reconsider Me" and "My Prayer" — in August. He also taped the Malden salute at that time. It's up to the show's editors, Felts said, as to how much of his taped material is used, depending on time limitations, etc.

Felts says this will be the first time he's appeared on "Hee Haw", although he has been on "most other country shows," he said.

The Statler Brothers and Sonny James are on the tour of the United States and Canada with Felts, and they have been attracting sizable crowds, he said. To date, the tour has included Rochester, Buffalo and New York City; Scranton, Pa., Columbus, Cleveland and Dayton, Ohio; Flint, Mich.; and the Canadian cities of Hamilton, Ottawa and Toronto.

The five-week tour, with three weeks yet to run, will make stops at Syracuse, N.Y., Augusta, Maine, and Springfield, Mass., Huntington, W. Va., and Cinncinnatti and Toledo, Ohio.

Felts claims his "My Good Thing's Good" on the ABC Dot label, is the 12th consecutive recording he has made which is rising on the popularity charts.

On the light side of the news

VERSAILLES, Ind. (AP) — Motorists near this southeastern Indiana town should be on the lookout for hiccuping horses with a hangover and boozed-up bulls.

A transport truck carrying 40,000 pounds of 188 proof alcohol overturned on U.S. 50 near here Tuesday, spilling its contents into a creek that cuts through farmland on its way to the Ohio River.

Trooper Lyman Conley said the alcohol would cause no damage.

Truck driver Michael Worstell, 32, of Louisville, Ky. suffered minor injuries and was listed in good condition.

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — This city's eternal flame — snuffed out by overzealous hot dog roasters — is headed for a facelift.

The flame, originally lighted in McFarlan Park on Memorial Day 1970 and supposed to burn forever on natural gas, became a favorite for barbecuers andfell victim to hot dog drippings about a year ago.

Last Thursday, it was relighted for Veteran's Day and was renamed the Freedom Flame.

Now Genesee County officials are lifting the base of the flame about eight feet — partly to honor the county's war dead but mostly to get it eternally free of the reach of outdoor cooks.

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Pssst — wanna buy an adult game? Bob Reiss will sell you such diversions as "Seduction," "Lie, Cheat & Steal," and "Compatibility."

Reiss, head of a game company that bears his name, says his most popular offering is is "Lie, Cheat & Steal: The Game of Political Power," in which players scheme their way to prominence. The game came out before Watergate, but Reiss acknowledges that the scandal gave sales a boost.

"But it'll be current years from now," he said. "All you have to do is pick up a paper in any town and there's lying, cheating and stealing right in front of you."

It is now generally believed that seals with their human-like faces were the factual basis for many stories about mermaids.

Elledge selects films for cancer education

Nationwide, American Education Week is being observed this week (Nov. 14-20) and the Scott County unit of the American Cancer Society has chosen this week as a period of emphasis on the society's education program.

Ernest Elledge

Ernest Elledge, public education chairman of the Scott County unit, has selected an educational cancer film and related educational literature for a forthcoming program to be presented in Scott County.

Elledge serves year-round as an ACS volunteer in the society's education program and is now scheduling future education programs in the county. Along with the Missouri Division, ACS office, a library of educational cancer films and literature is maintained at the SeMo Area ACS office, 1427 Thomas Drive, Cape Girardeau.

An educational program is available for any type audience or group, for showings to clubs and organizations, business and industry, neighborhood groups, home extension clubs, church, school and professional groups and most types of gatherings.

ACS educational cancer programs are free and are tailored to the time and interest of any size group. Films are shared by ACS units all over Missouri. For that reason, persons desiring an educational program are asked to contact Elledge at his home, 1002 Virginia St., Sikeston, telephone number 471-4455, 10 days prior to the program date.

Elledge emphasized, "Education is the key to early diagnosis, and early diagnosis is the key to more cancer cures. We need to alert all persons to the early warning signals of cancer and stress the importance of the annual health check-up. Early detection is of vital importance to all citizens. It is a part of our hope to help save more lives through early diagnosis and prompt treatment."

Approximately 370,000 Americans will die of cancer this year, and about 9,200 will be Missourians. It is estimated that nearly half of these people will die because their cancer was not discovered soon enough. Many of these may have sought a doctor's diagnosis and treatment much sooner if they had been exposed to some of the information that the American Cancer Society can provide.

Several types of cancer programs are available including: lung cancer, colon cancer, skin cander, breast cancer and uterine cancer. Other programs deal with cancer in general, the seven warning signals of cancer, cancer-health checkup, cancer research and cancer quackery.

Adolf Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf" while serving time in prison in 1924. The book's English title was "My Battle."

Felts to join stars on 'Hee-Haw' Dec. 4

MALDEN — Narvel Felts fans may soon hear the cry, "I'd like to salute my home town — Malden, Mo.; population 5,374!" when the popular singer appears on "Hee Haw" Dec. 4.

The show will be aired by KFVS-TV in Cape Girardeau in this area at 6 p.m.

Felts, taking a brief break in Malden from his current tour of the northeastern United States and southeastern Canada, says he has been notified that segments he has already taped will be aired on "Hee Haw".

The country-and-western singer says he taped two of his songs — "Reconsider Me" and "My Prayer" — in August. He also taped the Malden salute at that time. It's up to the show's editors, Felts said, as to how much of his taped material is used, depending on time limitations, etc.

Felts says this will be the first time he's appeared on "Hee Haw", although he has been on "most other country shows," he said.

The Statler Brothers and Sonny James are on the tour of the United States and Canada with Felts, and they have been attracting sizable crowds, he said. To date, the tour has included Rochester, Buffalo and New York City; Scranton, Pa., Columbus, Cleveland and Dayton, Ohio; Flint, Mich.; and the Canadian cities of Hamilton, Ottawa and Toronto.

The five-week tour, with three weeks yet to run, will make stops at Syracuse, N.Y., Augusta, Maine, and Springfield, Mass., Huntington, W. Va., and Cinncinnatti and Toledo, Ohio.

Felts claims his "My Good Thing's Good" on the ABC Dot label, is the 12th consecutive recording he has made which is rising on the popularity charts.

Burlison says '77 will be good year for farmers

MORLEY— Tenth District Rep. Bill D. Burlison, D-Cape Girardeau, told the Morley Rotary Club Thursday night that 1977 should be a good year legislatively for farmers, pointing out that the present farm bill expires with crop year 1977 and a new farm bill must be written next year.

It is my opinion that the Congress will pass and the President sign a program following the present target price-loan concept for the prominent row crops," Burlison said. "But the target price and loan rates will be raised at least high enough to cover the producer's cost of production."

Burlison also expressed his view that a new president with a strong farm background would benefit farmers in the form of the bill finally enacted.

The Cape Girardeau congressman serves on the subcommittee on agriculture of the House Appropriations Committee, which funds tthe United States Department of Agriculture.

With respect to defense, Burlison noted the statements of President-Elect Carter calling for cuts of $5 billion to $7 billion in the defense budget. He then noted that Congress has cut the President's defense budget in each of the last three years by $4 billion to $9 billion.

"Theoretically at least," Burlison pointed out, "if the President cut the defense budget in that amount, the Congress then would perhaps not need to cut it further."

He mentioned that the first big defense issue to confront the new President will be a production decision on the B-1 bomber which is due in February.

'It may be too late!'

Influenza spreads rapidly

When you hear of the first case of swine flu in the United States, it may be too late to be immunized, says Warren Manning, Administrator of the Scott County Health Department. The reason for his statement is that influenza spreads with great rapidity.

In as short a period of time as 24 hours, when one person in a family, group, town or county comes down with influenza, Manning said, the entire group could also become ill. Therefore, he maintains it is foolish to wait and take a chance.

He indicated that it takes the body two weeks after being immunized to build sufficient immunity to protect the individual from getting flu. Flu has always reached epidemic proportion in periods between Jan. 1 and Feb. 28, Manning said, and if you have not been immunized before the first part of December, you are taking a serious risk of entering the flu epidemic season unprotected.

In order to protect any given group of people from a communicable disease, 70 to 80 per cent of the group must recieve protection through immunization.

As of Nov. 16, Manning said, only 9,680 citizens in the county have received the flu protection. This converts into a 40 per cent immunization level on the eligible citizens.

The health officer believes at least 10,000 more people should be immunized throughout the county in order to reach a protective level.

He said the latest information concerning well children 3-17 years old indicates that there will not be adequate vaccine available to protect these children. It is, therefore, more important than ever that parents of these children receive the immunization so that they will not carry the disease home to them.

Many young, healthy adults seem apathetic about the need for receiving the flu vaccination, but Manning indicated that if they would read back in history, this is the exact group that the 1918 epidemic wiped out.

From the almost 10,000 doses given so far in Scott County, he said there have been no deaths, serious side effects or anybody who really felt bad reported as a result of the immunization. According to authorities, this one shot will protect you from swine flu for up to three years.

The second and LAST mass immunization clinics will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. Dec. 5 at the Sikeston High School cafetorium and the Chaffee Elementary School.

Adequate vaccine will be available for both these sites, and Manning said there should be very little waiting. At the last mass clinics, the rate of immunization was 600 people per hour.

For persons who for various reasons should not attend a mass clinic, doctors are receiving adequate dosage to imminize patients in their office.

The following people should not be immunized at a mass clinic: if you are allergic to eggs; if you have a fever; if you have a cold; or if you have received another immunization within 14 days.

Persons in the high risk category should also receive B strain influenza shots from their local physicians.

The mass immunization program is clearly a calculated gamble. An epidemic caused by swine flu may not occur. However, there is no middle ground and the stakes are very high if an immunization program is not conducted and an influenza epidemic occurs.

In the spring of 1781, the Spanish Governor of Louisiana, Bernardo de Galvez, led a siege on the British-held Fort George at Pensacola, Fla. In a brilliant naval maneuver, Galvez landed 7,000 troops on March 9. On April 28 the Spaniards broke through the outer fortifications and by May 8 they succeeded in dropping a shell on a powder magazine. The explosion killed or disabled 100 of the 900 British defenders and brought the fort's capitulation the next day, The World Almanac notes.

Conventional tiber glass or rock wool insulation leaves air pockets that can let air escape and raise your fuel bill. Foam insulation from the Homefoamers goes into your walls under pressure, sort of like shaving cream, filling every nook and cranny. Mission on healing and prayer planned

St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1100 N. Main St., will sponsor a Mission of Christian Healing and Prayer Dec. 3 and 4, in cooperation with First Christian Church, 1006 N. Main St., the Rev. William Sharkey, vicar of St. Paul's, has announced.

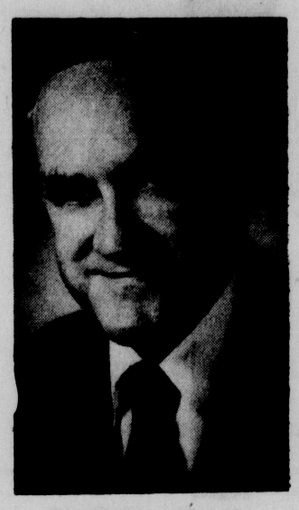
The leader of the mission will be Dr. William Standish Reed, a Tampa, Fla., physician and surgeon who recommends large doses of Christian prayer and loving along with medicines he prescribes for his patients. He will be accompanied by his wife, who will assist him in conducting the mission.

The two-day mission will include services and discussions led by Dr. and Mrs. Reed each morning at 10:30 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Each night at 7:30 at First Christian Church, Dr. Reed will preach and conduct services of prayer and healing with the ancient practice of "laying-on-of-hands", along with the Rev. Mr. Sharkey and the Rev. Paul Walker, pastor of First Christian Church.

Nursery facilities will be available for all services.

Unlike many surgeons in that he does not believe "the knife" or medicine is the only cure for illnesses or malignancies in man, Dr. Reed is a 49-year-old cancer specialist who firmly believes in the power of prayer to bring about miraculous cures.

He serves on the staff of five hospitals and is a teacher of surgery at Tampa General Hospital, and his beliefs in the healing power of faith is so strong he has built his entire practice around them and has established a nonprofit Christian Medical Foundation organization in Tampa to aid people with problems – physical or spiritual.



Dr. William Reed

Mrs. Kay Reed

Mrs. Reed also has an important and valid ministry to many people, and she, too, is active in the work of the Christian Medical Foundation.

Dr. Reed's philosophy, expressed simply in his own words, is, "Since God made us, He certainly must have a role in putting us back together when we are broken by illness."

He sees his beliefs and practices as perfectly natural for anyone with a firm faith in the basic command of Jesus Christ to go out and preach and teach and heal in His name, and with a knowledge of modern medical findings. "No physician seeks simply to concentrate upon the disease entity which presents itself," he says.

"In recent years it has been found that all organic diseases have their psychological implications. It is also true that there is no illness without its accompanying spiritual aspects. Just as there are illnesses which are basically psychological with organic manifestations, there are also spiritual illnesses which have psychologic and organic attributes.

"Thus, if a physician is to be a doctor of the whole man, and I think he must be, he cannot ignore the soul of the patient. This becomes most strikingly the case when the patient has a malignancy or a disease which is beyond the scope of the physician to cure It is in these instances that the physician must look to all areas of help for his patient and he cannot ignore, if he is honest, the great untried and uninvestigated field of spiritual therapy through the healing power of Jesus Christ."

State leader to visit Concordia

The Rev. W. Leroy Biesenthal, director of stewardship and evangelism, Missouri District, The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, will be the guest speaker Sunday morning at Concordia Lutheran Church, located at the corner of Park Avenue and Wakefield Street, according to the Rev. Kenneth W. Sievers, pastor.

Mission on healing and prayer planned

St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1100 N. Main St., will sponsor a Mission of Christian Healing and Prayer Dec. 3 and 4, in cooperation with First Christian Church, 1006 N. Main St., the Rev. William Sharkey, vicar of St. Paul's, has announced.

The leader of the mission will be Dr. William Standish Reed, a Tampa, Fla., physician and surgeon who recommends large doses of Christian prayer and loving along with medicines he prescribes for his patients. He will be accompanied by his wife, who will assist him in conducting the mission.

The two-day mission will include services and discussions led by Dr. and Mrs. Reed each morning at 10:30 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Each night at 7:30 at First Christian Church, Dr. Reed will preach and conduct services of prayer and healing with the ancient practice of "laying-on-of-hands", along with the Rev. Mr. Sharkey and the Rev. Paul Walker, pastor of First Christian Church.

Nursery facilities will be available for all services.

Unlike many surgeons in that he does not believe "the knife" or medicine is the only cure for illnesses or malignancies in man, Dr. Reed is a 49-year-old cancer specialist who firmly believes in the power of prayer to bring about miraculous cures.

He serves on the staff of five hospitals and is a teacher of surgery at Tampa General Hospital, and his beliefs in the healing power of faith is so strong he has built his entire practice around them and has established a nonprofit Christian Medical Foundation organization in Tampa to aid people with problems – physical or spiritual.

Mrs. Reed also has an important and valid ministry to many people, and she, too, is active in the work of the Christian Medical Foundation.

Dr. Reed's philosophy, expressed simply in his own words, is, "Since God made us, He certainly must have a role in putting us back together when we are broken by illness."

He sees his beliefs and practices as perfectly natural for anyone with a firm faith in the basic command of Jesus Christ to go out and preach and teach and heal in His name, and with a knowledge of modern medical findings. "No physician seeks simply to concentrate upon the disease entity which presents itself," he says.

"In recent years it has been found that all organic diseases have their psychological implications. It is also true that there is no illness without its accompanying spiritual aspects. Just as there are illnesses which are basically psychological with organic manifestations, there are also spiritual illnesses which have psychologic and organic attributes.

"Thus, if a physician is to be a doctor of the whole man, and I think he must be, he cannot ignore the soul of the patient. This becomes most strikingly the case when the patient has a malignancy or a disease which is beyond the scope of the physician to cure It is in these instances that the physician must look to all areas of help for his patient and he cannot ignore, if he is honest, the great untried and uninvestigated field of spiritual therapy through the healing power of Jesus Christ."
